THE GRANDEUR OF IDAHO'S NATURAL WONDERS

SAWTOOTH WINERY

Sawtooth Winery produces several Vinifera wine varieties, including 100% barrel fermented Chardonnay, Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, Pinot Gris, Syrah, Viognier, Roussanne-wines that are continually recognized for their high quality and exceptional taste. Bill Murray carefully guides each variety of fruit to bring out the intricate characteristics of the wines. Most of the wines are fermented and aged in small French oak until it is time for blending. Sawtooth Winery believes there is no compromising the winemaking process and will take every measure to ensure every bottle is of the highest quality. The wines' distinct labels that depict a beautiful scene of the Sawtooth Mountains represent the grandeur of Idaho's natural wonders.

IDAHO

Idaho is a state known for spectacular mountains, rivers and lakes. However, many are unaware that this beautiful area is also a great wine growing region. The unique combination of geography, climate and soils found in Idaho's vineyards can produce grapes with outstanding varietal character. High vineyard elevations, extra long hours of daylight during grape ripening, cool nights, volcanic ash soils, and ungrafted vines all contribute to producing grapes with concentrated flavors and naturally high acidity.

SAWTOOTH VINEYARD

This estate-vineyard for Sawtooth Winery is one of the warmer sites in Idaho. This site is well suited for Cabernet Sauvignon, rather than the traditional "cooler" sites in Idaho. Other varietals planted at Sawtooth Vineyard include Cabernet Franc, Roussanne, Pinot Gris, Syrah, and Merlot.

SKYLINE VINEYARD

One of the newest and largest plantings of wine grapes in Idaho, Skyline Vineyard lends itself to many different varietals. With south, west, north and east facing slopes, the micro-climate differs greatly at the site, allowing for a wide selection of varietals to be planted. The south and west facing slopes are the warmer areas of the vineyard, better suited for vinifera grapes which thrive on the long, hot days of the Idaho summers, such as Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc and Merlot. Whereas the east and north facing slopes are ideal for varieties requiring more vigor and cooler climates, such as Sauvignon Blanc and Riesling.

WINEMAKER – BILL MURRAY

Bill has had a passion for wine for many years. Inspired while travelling Europe, Bill started working in the industry in Napa, California. He worked for Buena Vista Winery while studying viticulture in the evenings at a local community college. A year later, he went to work for Acacia Winery. Bill worked at Acacia for 13 years, first as cellar master, and later as vineyard manager. After Acacia Winery, he moved to Bouchaine Vineyards as an oenologist and associate winemaker.

Bill is absolutely thrilled to be making premium boutique wine in Idaho at Sawtooth Winery.
